

RON SCHLOERB PHOTOS/CAPE COD TIMES

Man of steel

Sculptor Donald Gerola of Rhode Island installs a sculpture he's named Hummingbird on Main Street in Hyannis. The sculpture is made of steel and is on loan to the town, set up yesterday at the site of a former gas station at 725 Main St., now home to a phytoremediation project developed with the help of Harvard graduate students. Phytoremediation uses plants to restore degraded environments.

